SASS APPRECIATION WEEK

This week is SASS Recognition Week. SASS stands for School Administrative and Support Staff and includes all those amazing people who work in our school who are not teachers.

Our SASS play an important role in the school community. They are often the first people you see when you enter our school and are essential to maintaining positive relationships with students, parents and the community.

At Murrumburrah PS this includes our office staff who are often the ones to tend to students when they unwell and they ensure the efficient management of school financial and administrative functions. The School Learning and Support Officers who support students with their learning and General Assistant who keeps our school grounds and buildings pristine. All these people play a very important role by taking care of numerous non-teaching responsibilities so that teachers can focus on the business of teaching and learning.

We appreciate their work every week but it is good to take time this week to reflect on the value of what they do to contribute to the quality of school life.

In the next couple of weeks we will be trialling a new newsletter format to keep us more connected. The new format will provide better access to our online links and is more visually appealing on handheld devices. We welcome your feedback once the new format goes live. Keep an eye out for next weeks newsletter!

Our vision is to ensure every child has a sense of belonging to our school and they are confident learners who reach their full potential. We are committed to delivering rich differentiated learning in a nurturing environment.

SCIENCE WEEK

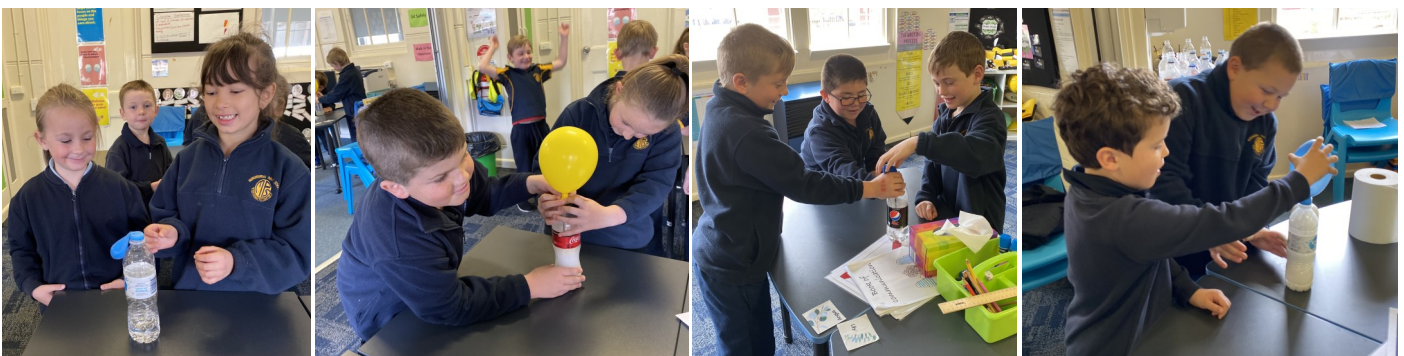

Last week the staff and students at MPS thoroughly enjoyed Science Week, we explored the theme of 'Deep Blue' in our classes. On Monday we ventured to the top oval and formed the letters MPS for the 'Satellite Selfie' organised by the ANU in Canberra, where the city of Canberra and surrounding areas were photographed.

We will be monitoring the site to see if we had our photo taken. As soon as the footage becomes available we will be sure to share it with you.

On Thursday each class participated in rotations for Science, teachers had organised a range of engaging and exciting experiments for students to take part in. For a fun change K-2 students did activities in the primary rooms with the primary teachers and 3-6 students headed over to infants to do activities with the infants teachers in their classrooms.

This was a great opportunity for our teachers to spend time with students that they don't get to see on a regular basis and a great transition opportunity for our year 2 students!

To wrap up a great day, we ended the morning with a sausage sizzle for all our students and staff.
